A rare combination of history, location and turn-of-the-century architecture create Gruene's unique appeal. The mercantile was built in 1910 and played a major role in life in the area. Mc Gruene's bark vault is still there, but unfortunately, no money!

Gruene Rapids, just 200 yards west, exemplifies the fun and allure of the Guadalupe River. Swimming, tubing, rafting, kayaking, canoeing and fishing - the largest recreational river in the U.S. has it all. Have fun!

Ask your server for a menu of all beers, wines and drink specials.

The town's iconic landmark was sold in 1976 to a land developer, but saved in tact by the current owner who bought it before it was dismantled and moved.

No foolin'! Most all menu items are made from scratch daily using the freshest possible ingredients.

The Gristmill has ten distinctive dining areas. 'Lupo' has the best view in the house, overlooking the Guadalupe River from the River Room. Can you guess how he got his name?

H.D. Gruene built the town's most notable structures to serve the area cotton farmers, including Gruene Hall in 1878. It's the oldest continually operating dance hall in the State and recognized internationally. How 'bout some two steppin'!

The Gristmill opened in 1977 in the ruins of Gruene's original cotton gin structure built in 1878. Make sure to check out our official historical medallion on front!
